19 The City of Chino's Supplement to Status Report on Watermaster's Safe Yield 20 Redetermination and Reset ("Supplement") describes concerns of the City of Chino ("Chino") as 21 to the merits of an agreement yet to be finally drafted, approved, or executed. As described in its 22 July 10, 2015 Status Report on Watermaster's Safe Yield Redetermination and Reset ("Status 23 Report"), Watermaster and the Parties to the Judgment have been engaged in meetings and 24 facilitation for more than two years in regard to the reset of the Safe Yield, and Watermaster
25 respectfully suggests that Chino's concerns regarding, and potential objections to, an anticipated
26 final resolution be addressed at the time Watermaster, on behalf of the parties thereto, submits a

1 proposed agreement intended to comprehensively respond to all of the Safe Yield related 2 challenges presently facing Watermaster (“Safe Yield Reset Motion”).

3 Since the filing of the Status Report, the Parties to the Judgment – including the City of 4 Chino – with facilitation by Watermaster representatives, have continued to work toward the 5 memorialization of a final agreement regarding the reset of the Safe Yield. (Declaration of 6 Bradley J. Herrema in Support of Watermaster’s Response to City of Chino’s Supplement to 7 Status Report on Watermaster’s Safe Yield Redetermination and Reset (“Herrema Decl.”), at ¶ 4.)
8 At this time, no final agreement has been referred to the Parties for their consideration and 9 feedback.¹ (Herrema Decl., at ¶ 5.)
10

11 The Parties that have been negotiating toward a resolution of concerns related to the reset 12 of the Safe Yield deserve the opportunity to complete the process of developing a proposal to 13 manage the precious resources of the Basin, especially at this crucial moment of drought and 14 increased need for sustainable groundwater management. As described in Watermaster’s Status 15 Report, the present schedule contemplates finalization of an agreement and its transmittal, along 16 with moving papers, declarations, and reports, no later than October 1, 2015. At that point the 17 Court, Chino, and any other interested Party, will have the opportunity to evaluate that proposal.

19 As there is no noticed and fully briefed Safe Yield Reset Motion pending before the 20 Court, Chino’s Supplement appears premature and its requested relief (Supplement, 15:23-33) is 21 beyond the scope of the procedural Court action Watermaster’s Status Report requests – that the 22 Court accept the Status Report and that it order Watermaster to file a Safe Yield Reset Motion no

24 _____
25 ¹ Chino’s Supplement states that Watermaster has taken action in regard to elements of the Key 26 Principles. However, both the Status Report and the Key Principles themselves are unequivocal
27 that the Key Principles are non-binding, and that negotiations to reduce them to a final binding 28 agreement will follow. (Status Report, 5:13-16; Key Principles [attached to Declaration of Bradley J. Herrema in Support of Status Report on Watermaster’s Safe Yield Redetermination and Reset as Exhibit “A”] at p. 1.) While not necessary to address at this time in the context of the Status Report’s requested action, Watermaster believes Chino’s Supplement mischaracterizes
Watermaster’s role in their development. (Herrema Decl., at ¶ 5.)

1 later than October 1, 2015. As Chino filed its Supplement eight Court days before the August 21, 2 2015 hearing, Watermaster is concerned that the relief requested therein cannot be considered to 3 have been properly noticed pursuant to the Judgment² and that the rights of the parties to the 4 present Safe Yield reset negotiations may be prejudiced without full briefing on the matter.

6 Chino's concerns as to the wisdom, fairness, and efficacy of what it anticipates will be the 7 proposed agreement are most appropriately considered when there is an actual, approved 8 agreement for the Court's consideration. The City's Supplement identifies no prejudice in having 9 Chino's concerns heard at the time a Safe Yield Reset Motion is before the Court. Accordingly,
10 Watermaster respectfully requests that the Court postpone any consideration of the concerns 11 raised by Chino's Supplement – none of which are raised by Watermaster's Status Report – until 12 a hearing is held on a properly noticed and briefed Safe Yield Reset Motion.
